1. There is a marked feeling of discontent among many officers of the Yugoslav Army. These officers, who are not Cominformists, have no desire to follow the policies of Tito and are endeavoring through every possible means to leave the Army.
2. The following examples of this attitude are cited:
  - a. Major Darko Guzelj, member of the Yugoslav Communist Party, on duty with infantry troops in Ljubljana, has stated: "By all means I would like to quit the Army because everything in it is ruined, but I do not know how to go about it, since I would be expelled from the Party, declared a Cominformist, and destroyed."
  - b. Colonel Lazar Kolarac, member of the Yugoslav Communist Party and Commander of the Rijeka Military District, is embittered because the pay is too low and the so-called "diplomatic stores" from which Army officers were formerly entitled to draw special rations have been abolished. He no longer wishes to serve in the Army because everything is confused and a feeling of dissatisfaction prevails in all echelons of the Army. He does not know how to leave the service without being declared a Cominformist.
  - c. First Lieutenant Bole, member of the Yugoslav Communist Party, serving with the Yugoslav Army Corps at Koper, has long spoken of his desire to leave the Army and is considering various manipulations to accomplish this end. He states that he does not wish to serve in an army all of whose members are dissatisfied and who think only of how to escape to the Anglo-Americans in case of war.
